SPICED

Letter of Reference

To Whom It May Concern:

We confirm that Krzysztof Zbrojkiewicz has participated and successfully completed our Full Stack Web Development program, beginning 06.01.2020 and ending 27.03.2020 at SPICED Academy Berlin, Germany.

SPICED Academy offers onsite, intensive tech programs in web development and data science. Our 12-week Full Stack Web Development course provides students with the knowledge, skills and mindset required to become a high-performing software engineer. With a hands-on, practical approach, students develop a portfolio of real-world applications, developing real product features in real development environments and writing production quality code. Graduates start a career as a software developer.

The curriculum is focused on JavaScript along with HTML, CSS, jQuery, MV* Frameworks, Node.js, React.js and SQL. Additionally, students learn to hone their communication, critical thinking and interviewing skills. Throughout the program, students receive career guidance in the areas of self-awareness, tackling interview questions, CV, cover letter, Github and online presence. On graduation day, students demo an application they built to an audience of SPICED students, partners and staff.
